What do you need to get started?

Microsoft® Windows Media® is the platform of choice for broadcasters delivering live or on-demand audio and video over the Internet. Leading broadcasters including ClearChannel, MSNBC, and NPR all use Windows Media. Since our servers are Microsoft® Windows Media® streaming servers, you need Windows Media Encoder to broadcast your event. Windows Media Encoder is a free download provided by Microsoft. When we set up your account, we will give you the configuration variables needed to successfully transmit your broadcast. For video broadcasts, you will need an A/V Cable or Firewire to connect your camera or mixing device to the A/V or Firewire input on your computer or laptop. We will go over this with you more when you have activated your account.
